Air Bear's initial offering of the Airvan 8 solved the most vexing issue of airborne surveillance, that of the drag caused by a large sensor exposed to the slipstream. This was accomplished by use of an effective retraction system which eliminated drag on takeoff, climb and sprint operations.

Air Bear and its integration partners have expanded and improved these capabilities to provide solutions for Cessna 208 and 206 aircraft and also for the Quest Kodiak 100. Contact us to learn more about how we can address your particular mission requirements.

Delivering quantities of Airvan and Cessna 208 and 206 aircraft, Air Bear has industry leading experience in fielding special mission aircraft. Now offering the Quest Kodiak 100, Air Bear has an additional solution to address your mission requirements-and budget!
