Advantage: Air Bear

Air Bear special mission aircraft are operated commercially and by federal, state and local agencies providing critical real time intelligence or supporting an airborne data collection mission. The results our customers obtain speak for themselves. Air Bear's combination of providing latest technology on affordable mission-ready platforms is why our solutions are indeed the Gold Standard in Special Mission Aircraft.

Air Bear will act as your expert prime contractor, delivering a complete, mission-ready aircraft anywhere in the world. We maintain close relationships with aircraft OEM's whose platforms are typically used in Airborne Law Enforcement, Maritime and Border Patrol, Covert Surveillance & Reconnaissance, Fire Patrol, Mapping & Command & Control, Counter Drug Operations, Geo-Mapping, Pipeline & Powerline Inspection & Leak Detection, Hyperspectral Detection of Trace Elements, JTAC/CAS training and more. Contact us to discuss your mission requirements today.

Mission Centric

The team at Air Bear is platform and technology agnostic, wherein we will deliver to you the best and most cost-effective solution for your needs. If there is a better solution than what you are contemplating, we'll show you why. The same holds true with mission equipment, we recommend what we know has demonstrated effectiveness in many hours of successful operation and will provide you with options best suited for your mission requirements.

Our customers are then able to make informed decisions regarding which platform and mission equipment are the best solution to accomplish their mission, while fully understanding the cost of acquisition and ownership over time. Having been fully briefed on the options, costs and capabilities available, we'll help you avoid the common acquisition traps many fall into. That is our mission – to deliver the best solution possible, while remaining within your budgetary constraints.

Combining Innovative Design and Proven Technology

Air Bear and its integration partners remain on the forefront of innovation and technology. By fielding the first effective and affordable airborne mission retraction system in 2014, to recently fielding a lightweight system for the Cessna 206, Air Bear continues to develop cutting edge solutions.

Air Bear is the factory authorized distributor of the Diamond DA62 MPP for the USA and maintains a relationship with Textron, sourcing new Cessna 206's, 208's and King Airs. We also maintain relationships with other aircraft OEMS, to source the correct platform for the mission.

Meet the Air Bears

Air Bear was formed in 2014 by a group of industry experts to address the need to provide alternatives for special mission requirements. Learn more about the Air Bears here:
